Young People's Dinner Given at the White House.

MUSICAL DURING EVENING

Farwell Dinner to Prince zu Lynar at the German Embassy—Col. C. S. Brownwell and Mrs. Brownwell Entertain at Dinner—Mrs. Draper Gives Luncheon to Twenty-four.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at a young people's dinner last evening, the guests having been asked principally from the debutante set and young college men who are in Washington for the holidays. The table was attractively decorated with pink roses and white carnations. Mrs. Roosevelt welcomed her guests in a white broadened gown with corage trimming of lace.

The dinner guests were: Senator and Mrs. Brewster, Hon. Whitelaw Reid, Hon. and Mrs. William W. Rockhill, Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Goshalk, Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Velegues, Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Grant, Miss Carson, Miss Lucy Keane, Miss Christine Roosevelt, Miss Meyer, Miss Nabuco, Miss Newberry, Miss McKee, Miss Noble, Miss Helen Church, Miss H. W. Fitch, Miss Frances Butler, Miss Hott, Miss Wales, Miss Amy Bowles, Mr. Kermit Roosevelt, Capt. Leonard, Assistant Postmaster Adm. Mr. Gardner, Mr. C. C. Oliver, Jr., Mr. William Phillips, Mr. C. E. Hager, Jr., Mr. McLean, Mr. Stockton, Mr. Claude Peck, Capt. Cheney, Lieut. Holcomb.

A musicale, to which one hundred or more additional guests were asked, followed the dinner, at which older members of society joined the dinner guests after 10 o'clock.

Miss Katherine Goodson, pianist; Miss Frances Kaspar, a talented and charming local soprano, and Mr. Henry Xander were the artists of the evening.

The programme was as follows: "Sund", Op. 25, No. 1; "Valse", Op. 42; "Polka", Op. 8; "Chopin"; "The Last of the Delicate Air"; "Petite Oiseau"; "Kussen ist keine Sünde"; "Euler"; "Friede"; "Ende Fantastisch"; "Joseph Holcomb"; "Ragtime", Op. 21, No. 1; "Arthur Hinton"; "Sister Wings"; "Willoughby"; "Auntie Lamb"; "MacDowell"; "Spring"; "Bessie"; "Rhapsody", No. 2; "List".

Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson and Mrs. Brownson entertained at dinner last night.

Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner F. Williams, gave a card party yesterday afternoon at her home, in R street.

The German Ambassador and the Baroness von Sternburg inaugurated their dinner entertainments for this season by giving a farewell dinner last night for Prince zu Lynar of the Embassy staff, who has been transferred to Rome and is leaving in a few days for his new post.

The company which met round the handsomely appointed table included the Naval Attaché of the French Embassy and Mme. de Blampre, the Naval Attaché of the German Embassy and Frau Hebbinghaus, the Military Attaché and Frau Lydonius, Miss Langham, sister of the hostess, Miss Cameron, Miss Meyer, Miss May, Miss de Smirnow, Miss MacVeagh, Miss Williams, Baron Haymerle and M. Saint-Ivany of the Austro-Hungarian Embassy, Mr. Kennard of the British Embassy, and Count von Hatfeldt, Prince zu Lynar, Herr von Brunnig, and Herr von Schubert of the German Embassy staff.

The Nicaraguan Minister, Señor Corea, was host yesterday at a luncheon at the Willard, at which he entertained the Mexican Ambassador, Señor Creel, Señor José Madrid, secretary of the Central American Peace Conference, Mr. William Buchanan, and Mr. William Barrett.

Mrs. William Barrett Ridgely, wife of the Comptroller of the Currency, received at her first Friday afternoon at home yesterday, at her home in Seventeenth street, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Leering, Mr. Frank Denny, Miss Clara Beal, of Chicago, who is visiting here with her aunt, Mrs. Fort, Miss Helen Squires, and Miss Eleanor Ridgely.

Mrs. Ridgely welcomed her callers in a most artistic gown of chiffon and embroidered in a lighter shade, with which she wore a necklace of turquoise matrix set in carved silver.

Mrs. Deering was gowned in cream lace applique, with rhinestone ornaments and jet. Miss Eleanor Ridgely was daintily clad in pale blue Liberty silk, trimmed with point applique and Irish lace, with a corsage bouquet of violets.

Their guests comprised members of the Congressional set, the army and navy circle, and members of the diplomatic corps.

Miss Cannon entertained at a luncheon yesterday.

Mrs. James McKee will be at home to-day at the Grafton, assisted by Mrs. Russell Harrison and Miss Mary McKee.

The Baroness Hengelmüller will begin her Saturday evenings at home to-night. These are always among the most brilliant and popular functions of the social season.

The Italian Ambassador, Baron Mayor, is the latest victim of the prevalent grip, and is confined to his room at the embassy.

Mme. Chermont, wife of the second secretary of the Brazilian Embassy, is another grip sufferer, as is Mme. Milzouka, wife of the charge d'affaires of Japan.

Col. Charles S. Brownwell, U. S. A., and Mrs. Brownwell entertained at dinner last night, having as their guests Mlle. des Portes, the Third Secretary of the French Embassy and the Vicecountess de Martel; Prince Nicolas Koudacheff, first secretary of the Russian Embassy; Mr. de Amaral, counselor of the Brazilian Embassy; Capt. the Hon. Horace Hood, naval attaché of the British Embassy; Dr. Carey Langhorne and Mrs. Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cobb, Miss Foraker, Miss Marian Oliver, Miss Elkins, Miss Edith Sauer, Lieut. Charles Miller, the newly-appointed aid to the President, and Mr. Walter Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Slater and Miss Slater left Washington on Thursday for New York and will sail to-day for Europe, going directly to their villa in Southern France, where they will spend the winter. In the spring they expect to go to Egypt for an extended stay, and will probably not return to Washington for a year.

The American Ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid were the guests of the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Garfield yesterday at luncheon. Invited to meet them were the British Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Beckman Winthrop, Justice E. D. White and Mrs. White, and Miss Ellen Hale.

Miss Kauffmann, daughter of Mr. Rudolph Kauffmann, entertained at a luncheon of fourteen covers yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont are expected to arrive in Washington to-day to open their residence in Scott circle for the remainder of the season.

Mrs. Wallace Randolph entertained informally at tea yesterday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. Sturgis.

Mrs. W. F. Draper entertained at luncheon yesterday at her home in K street. Twenty-four guests assembled at the table, which was effectively decorated with Parma violets and ferns. Mrs. Draper's guests were Mrs. Kean, Miss Kean, Mrs. White, wife of Justice White; Mrs. Rice, wife of Surgeon Gen. Rice, U. S. N.; Mrs. Reamey, wife of Commander L. Reamey, U. S. N.; Mrs. Audenfeld, Mrs. John T. Jackson, Mrs. James Marion Johnston, Mrs. Pinchot, Mrs. Nicholas Anderson, Mrs. B. H. Warder, Mrs. Rolanah Cotton Smith, Miss Boardman, Mrs. Charles A. Munn, Mrs. Henry Cleveland Perkins, Mrs. Guy Fairfax Whiting, Mrs. Richey, Mrs. Francis B. Loring, Mrs. Edward McCauley, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Arthur Lee, and Mrs. Wilmer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boardman entertained at a dinner of twenty-two last night at their home in P street.

Mrs. Garlington, wife of Gen. Ernest A. Garlington, will entertain at dinner this evening, complimentary to Miss Newberry.

Miss Elena Calderon, daughter of the Minister from Bolivia and Mme. Calderon, entertained at a tea yesterday afternoon at her home in Sixteenth street. A profusion of palms and cut flowers decorated the spacious rooms and the dainty tea table. Miss Calderon received her guests in a becoming gown of yellow Liberty satin and chiffon.

Mme. Guzman, wife of the secretary of the Colombian Legation, poured tea. Miss Calderon was assisted in the hospitality of the afternoon by the Misses Carbo, daughters of the Minister from Ecuador; Miss Godoy, daughter of the counselor of the Mexican Embassy; Miss Hannah Taylor, Miss Hastings, and Miss Perle Anderson.

Mrs. Gus Lewis, of 307 Eleventh street, will not be at home to-day.

Owing to illness, Mrs. Van Orsdel, wife of Associate Justice Van Orsdel, of the District Court of Appeals, will not receive on Monday, but will receive the remaining Mondays in January, from 3 to 6 o'clock, at 250 Ontario road.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Marshall, their daughter, Miss Maud Alverson, and their granddaughter Ruth are at the St. Charles, Atlantic City.

Mrs. John W. Dwight has cards out for a luncheon Thursday, January 16, in honor of Miss Redmond, who will be her house guest at that time.

Miss Lillian O'Connell, of the Ontario, is a patient in hospital suffering from typhoid fever.

The members of the Dupont Musical Art Club will give a musicale and reception at the club's studios, in Dupont circle, on January 7.

An excellent programme has been arranged by the members. Mrs. Whitaker will render a cycle of old English songs, Mrs. Allen Holmes will give by special request a part of her Jamestown programme, and an original burlesque and potpourri of her own now in manuscript, but soon to be published.

A reception to the club members and their friends will follow the musicale. The reception committee will include Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Dupre, Mrs. Allen Holmes, the Misses Sterling, Miss Amy Holmes, Miss Morris, and Mme. Bourne Pierre.

Admission will be by card only.

Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Birnfeld announce the birth of a daughter, Caroline, on December 29, 1907.

DRAMA IN A COMBINE

Theatrical Managers Unite to Promote Interests.

HENRY W. SAVAGE PRESIDENT

Plans of Association to Suppress Piracy, Keep Tab on Actors, and Effect the General Improvement of the Business—Will Meet in New York Once Every Summer.

New York, Jan. 3.—With the adoption of a constitution and the election of officers, the National Association of Theatrical Producing Managers voted itself into permanent existence to-day. These officers were elected: President, Henry W. Savage; vice president, Charles E. Blaney; treasurer, Samuel Scribner; secretary, Hollis E. Cooley.

The board of directors include the four executive officers ex-officio, and also the following eleven men: H. B. Harris, Jules Murry, Gus Hill, George Tyler, Harry Maciel, Benjamin F. Roeder, Al. H. Woods, J. W. Jacobs, W. F. Conner, Charles Yale, and W. A. Brady. Application for a charter under the laws of the State of New York will be made immediately.

About sixty managers, representing every form of theatrical enterprise from the highest paid legitimate to the 10, 20, and 30 cents vaudeville and repertoire were present, and the officers were picked from them with a view to having every phase of the theatrical business represented.

Objects of Union.
The new organization sets out to do many things. It expects to suppress piracy; to prevent contract jumping; to deal with labor unions unitedly; to get better rates of transportation from the railroads; to take up complaints of extortion, date canceling, and unfair dealing generally at the hands of house managers in the provinces, and to settle difficulties among themselves by arbitration.

Meetings will be held every second Tuesday in June in New York. The association will have permanent offices in this city, and a secretary, who will be the only paid official. One of the secretary's many duties will be to record the misbehavior of every actor to the end that the association members, by consulting his files, may arrive at more intelligent conclusions regarding the fitness of those performers they are about to engage.

Dues of Members.
After February 15 the entrance fee to the association, which at present can be entered without money, will be $50, with annual dues of $25. In addition, weekly dues will be assessed on every show each member has out. The assessment will be $5 if his show charges $1.50 admission or more, $3 for those charging less than $1.50, and $2 for vaudeville and repertoire attractions. This money will be used in defending the interests of theatrical producing managers. Individual difficulties, such as the settling of disputed interpretation of contract that a manager has signed with a star must be settled individually.

A telegram of sympathy with the purposes of the organization was read from Olga Nethersole, who is running a company of her own. In her managerial capacity Miss Nethersole was voted a member of the association. All other actors-managers are eligible.

One of the first things the new association will do is to attempt to secure a reduction of railroad fares for road companies.

PROF. HOGARTH LECTURES.

Appears To-night Under Auspices of the Classical Club.

The George Washington University has issued announcements of the eighth anniversary exercises of the Classical Club for this evening at 8:30 o'clock. The club was founded in 1900 by Prof. Mitchell Carroll, and has been effective in promoting interest in classical studies, not only in the university, but among the cultured people of Washington.

An illustrated lecture will be given this evening—"The Aegean and Crete"—by Prof. D. G. Hogarth, M. A., formerly director of the British school at Athens and at present director of the Cretan exploration fund. Mr. Hogarth was the guest of the Washington Society at its annual meeting on November 8 at the residence of Hon. John W. Foster.

MR. NAILOR'S FUNERAL PLANS

Masonic Ceremonies to Be Held at Residence of Family.

Rev. William Tayloe Snyder, of Church of Incarnation, to Officiate at Church Services.

Mr. Allison Nailor, Jr., who died at his residence, Fifteenth street and Rhode Island avenue, on Thursday evening, after an illness of a few days, will be buried in Rock Creek Cemetery Monday afternoon.

Masonic ceremonies will be performed at the family home, followed by services at the Church of the Ascension. In the absence of Rev. Clement Brown, rector of the Church of the Ascension, who is in Europe, Rev. William Tayloe Snyder, rector of the Church of the Incarnation, will officiate.

The honorary pallbearers selected are all thirty-third degree Masons, and are as follows: James D. Richardson, sovereign grand commander; George F. Moore, grand chancellor of the supreme council; Francis J. Woodman, deputy of supreme council of the District; James H. Trimble, representative of the Oldest Inhabitants' Association; William L. Boyden, librarian of supreme council; Harrison Dingman, right eminent grand captain of guard, grand encampment, Knights Templars; Andrew W. Kelly, past grand commander, Knight Templars of the District; Dr. Chamberlain, of Texas, and Jacobus S. Jones.

Mr. Nailor was widely known in connection with Masonic orders, and was sent to Mexico to confer a degree upon President Diaz.
Dr. F. J. Woodman, deputy of the Supreme Council of the District, and members of the Scottish Rite Masons met in Masonic Temple, Ninth and F streets northwest, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to select the honorary pallbearers, and make arrangements for the Rose Croix service, which will be conducted by Masons at the family residence before the services at the church.

SUNDAY EDITION OF THE WASHINGTON HERALD

SOME OF THE FINE FEATURES TO-MORROW

With its first Sunday issue in 1908 THE WASHINGTON HERALD to-morrow will contain several notable additions. The gratifying progress made by the paper has prompted still greater efforts, and, without becoming a blanket sheet, the Sunday edition will contain innumerable features, all high class, by way of supplementing its excellent news service.

One page each Sunday will be devoted to woman, and how she can be healthy and beautiful. This department will be conducted by Mrs. Henry Symes, and will be replete with advice and suggestions for the feminine readers.

Other articles of interest to women will be the replies of the Social Arbitrator to Queries, the Woman About Town, with her chatty descriptions of the frailties of her sex; The Bachelor Girl, whose topic this week will be "The Gold Cure for Love," which should interest the greater part of the human race as a love cure, were such a thing possible, would prove one of the "six best sellers."

The brilliant Mrs. George Keppel has at last won the friendship of Queen Alexandra, and the hatchet between these two famous women is buried, after ten years of social warfare. This remarkable story, illustrated, will be told in detail in to-morrow morning's Herald.

Blind men who have risen superior to their afflictions is the subject Dexter Marshall employs in giving ready reference sketches of men who have reached fame, despite their lack of sight. One of these is Hon. Thomas P. Gore, the picturesque blind Senator from Oklahoma.

Fortunate children in European capitals are those who find fairy godparents among the members of royalty. One little girl, an inmate of the village home, became the favorite of the queen. This and other human interest stories are related in the weekly letters by the Ex-Attache.

When the great Pacific fleet reaches the southernmost point of its long cruise America will await with deep anxiety the announcement that our noble sea fighters have safely passed through the Straits of Magellan. In to-morrow's Herald will be found a comprehensive article describing the currents of these dangerous passages and why this 320 miles of treacherous water has become world famed as a place to be dreaded. Admiral Evans' line of reasoning, and his probable plans for passing these rocky, perilous straits, are dwelt upon by the writer.

Suppose you were walking along "the great white way" without a nickel, without friends, without knowing where to go to get a nickel, and suppose you still wanted to stay in New York. Now, what would you do? Read to-morrow's Herald and find out what might be done under these conditions. Plenty of nerve and "front" will carry even an undesirable citizen a long way toward food and shelter in uncharitable New York.

DULIN & MARTIN CO.

Grape Fruit SERVING GLASSES.

MANY of the best informed hostesses now consider Grape Fruit Serving Glasses a necessary adjunct to the properly appointed table.

These glasses are made in two parts—an inner bowl for the fruit and an outer bowl for holding crushed ice.

Shown in plain crystal as well as numerous exquisitely cut and rich gold-decorated effects.

These glasses can be made even more distinctive by the addition of etched or gold monograms, which we execute to order.
